Content Summary

An eye opening series of sessions looking not only at seating theory but practical solutions to specialist seating as well as a brief insight into professional accountability.

“Why attend a specialist Seating Awareness Day?”

To gain comprehensive understanding of need for specialist seating within healthcare environments, how to prescribe the correct seating system and understand the changing needs of an individual user. The day will aim to increase knowledge and develop understanding on the principles of seating including posture and positioning, pressure management and tissue viability.

CPD Approval/accreditation

This postural management course is accredited for points.

Target Group

Attendees do not require any previous clinical experience, however a desire to learn more about the needs of the individuals, the current thinking and considerations for prescribing specialist seating and understanding the broad range of products available is key to the day

Relevant information
